

Welcome, New Students!

The campus center has been quiet this summer. As students are out spending their summers experiencing the world, we are eagerly awaiting their return to campus and looking forward to welcoming new students this fall.

Last year, through the Campus Connect Project, we learned of and reached out to 91 incoming students who were referred to us by their pastors, family members, and friends. If you know a student arriving on campus in Madison this fall, or if you'd like to connect a student to campus ministry at another university, please refer them by going to:

Partnership with Second Harvest

Lutheran Campus Ministry is proud to announce our new partnership with Second Harvest Foodbank of Southern Wisconsin.

This summer LCM's Taste of Grace Lunch was approved as a partner meal site and beginning this fall, we will obtain fresh produce and dairy at no cost from the food bank and non-perishable foods for a small handling fee of 18 cents per pound. Last year LCM served over 20,000 meals for less than $1 per meal. This year, those costs will be even lower as a result of this new partnership.

This year, the Wisconsin HOPE Lab at UW-Madison released its third national survey on basic needs insecurity at Colleges and Universities. Over 20,000 students at 35 four-year colleges participated. According to the study 36% of students were food insecure in the 30 days preceding the survey. The Taste of Grace Lunch is an important resource for students who are experiencing hunger.

LCM @ NYG

Meet the Fellows

We are so excited to introduce our first cohort of Faith & Vocation Fellows! These young women and men will spend about 10 hours per week working in partner ministry sites related to their career interests. In addition, they will gather each Sunday afternoon to support one another, pray together, and grow in their faith.

Thanks to your generous donations and to the Siebert Lutheran Foundation's matching grant, we have met our funding goal of $20,000 for 2018-2019. These funds will provide monthly stipends for our fellows as well as honoraria for our guest presenters.

We ask for your prayers for these students (3 of the 5 fellows are pictured below) as they grow in faith and serve their neighbors.

Meet Sarah from Oregon, WI

Madison College Liberal Arts Transfer

Ministry Area: Voter Education & Public Policy

I've been raised in the church, but as I've come into my own identity in adulthood I will admit that I've had struggles - not with God, but with the institution of the Church itself. More specifically, I've struggled to find my place in it. I've started to realize that I need to carve out my own place. I am a unique individual and I need to be able to advocate for my own identity and decide for myself what I can bring to the table and how I can best serve God and others through the work of the Church. I think this Fellowship will be a powerful tool to help me explore how to do that.

Meet Logan from Corcoran, MN

UW Madison Sophomore, Pre-Med

Ministry Area: Public Health & Epidemiology

I went to St. Philip the Deacon Lutheran Church through childhood, and I was confirmed in ninth grade. I have always struggled with some parts of faith, but in general, I like the values Christianity communicates. I have a strong interest in the medical field, and I was told about an opportunity in epidemiology. This opportunity is a perfect blend of my interests with a religious discussion component.

Meet Addison from Ontario, WI

UW Madison Sophomore, Ag Business

Ministry Area: Youth Ministry

I've enjoyed challenging my beliefs and exploring what my faith really means and how I can carry that it out in my life. Even in times when it's hard and all seems hopeless, the never-ending and all-consuming love of God has been a constant rock. I am ecstatic to continue this growth and learn more about myself and my faith along the way!
